SENIOR OFFICERS '79

by Lisa Schwarz

The senior officers of the class of 1979 are to be commended for their outstanding accomplishments for the benefit of the graduating class. The President, Toldd Rauch, heads a staff of Karen Sasser, Vice President; Kit Whyte, Secretary and Cathy Zoi, Treasurer. The four officers have been extremely helpful in obtaining the most improvements, and at a lower cost, of all activities connected with the graduating class.

The first noticeable change from prior years was the purchase of higher quality and better styled T-shirts. Not only did the color and style satisfy everyone but the class fund paid $2.00 toward every shirt, thus reducing the price each student had to pay. The Senior Breakfast was another successful event. Due to the senior officers' efforts this year there was no charge to the students and there was plenty of food for everyone. A welcome addition to senior souvenirs was the senior mug. These personalized mugs were inexpensive and popular with everyone. The Senior Banquet, which was usually held in the cafeteria, is being changed to the more appealing atmosphere of One Park Avenue. The prom site was also changed for the better and the price of the "after prom" was reduced. As a matter of fact, they made it possible for seniors to pay as little as possible for every senior activity.

Not only did the senior class officers work well for the benefit of the senior class, but they worked extremely well with Dr. Hoffman who accepted all their ideas and suggestions presented to him. When asked if there was anything the officers wished they accomplished this year their reply was, "Everything we wanted was passed - the year has been great!"

No doubt the efforts of the officers have and will aid them in their future endeavors. Todd Rauch has been offered a Leadership Scholarship for his participation in numerous activities. He plans to attend the University of Tampa in the fall. Karen Sasser is a member of the National Honor Society and the track team and is planning to go to Bucknell. Cathy Zoi is a member of the National Honor Society and is president of AFS.

She will be attending Duke University in January. Kit Whyte is also a member of the National Honor Society and plans to continue her education at the University of Virginia.

As a result of the worthwhile efforts of the senior class officers, the class of 1979 has enjoyed the best year ever. More seniors were involved in activities than ever before, and as is known, participation is the most important element to a unified senior class.

OPEN LETTER TO THE SENIORS

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1979

As Senior Class Sponsors, we were asked to write a brief letter to the seniors. This letter could have taken many forms. For example, we could have compared this year's class with previous years. We thought about that for a while and decided it wouldn't be fair. Each class has its own personality and value systems. We didn't feel our responsibilities included evaluating a group of young people. However, we do feel we can comment on the accomplishments of the Class of 1979.

This year's class officers have worked to make your senior year one to remember. The most significant change involves the Senior Prom which will now take place at the Sheraton

Motor Inn South. Also, the class officers have attempted to provide the class with opportunities to benefit from the funds they have earned during their high school years.

When we work with each graduating class, we begin the year hoping that, while enjoying their senior year, the students realize they have responsibilities to meet. The success of the year is measured by the Senior's willingness to cooperate and work for the common goals of the class. Most students have become involved and accepted their responsibilities, so the senior activities have been successful. This positive, constructive attitude has helped to make our year a rewarding, enjoyable one.

MESSAGE FROM CLASS PRESIDENT

To my fellow graduates,

I'm sure you all don't have to be told that it's been a long four years. Our parents, friends and teachers have, for the most part, encouraged and helped us.

For this, I think we are all appreciative. I know personally that as graduation nears, I find myself looking back over the past years and thinking about the way all of us have shared so many experiences. I know that it might sound awkward, but if you really think about it, it's true. I have learned and shared much with all of you, and for that I am thankful.

I am glad that these years are over, but I'm not so happy with the thought that soon we will all be going our separate ways. I do know that I have matured and become a better person from knowing all of you, and I sincerely hope that all of you feel the same.

I have tried to do my best as your representative this year. I hope that I have been successful. I think that we all will be leaving Upper St. Clair with memories that will be cherished for the years to come. To all of you, I sincerely hope your futures are everything you want them to be. I wish you all the best of LUCK.

Sincerely,
Todd Rauch

Senior Activities

by Stephanie Zanardi

Sunday, June 3 will set the stage for an evening of senior recognition during the baccalaureate ceremony. This evening will consist of music from Mr. Gielas, a senior soloist chosen by Mr. D'Alessandro, a guest speaker to recognize the graduating class.

The school policy for selecting the guest speaker is done on a rotating basis of the five churches in Upper St. Clair. It has been the school policy in the past and it continues to hold that only the churches in Upper St. Clair are represented during the baccalaureate and commencement ceremonies. Because of this, not all religions are represented; however, if the school asked other churches outside the community, other organizations etc. would want to be represented and problems would result. (At the time of this printing it is not yet known which three churches will be part of the baccalaureate ceremony and which two will be part of the commencement ceremony.) Of the three churches, the minister of one church is asked to choose a layman from his church whom he feels would be an inspirational speaker for the students. The guest may speak on any topic he chooses however, usually it is a message of personal dedication and inspiration.

During the ceremony, the families and friends will be seated in the wing sections of the auditorium and the seniors in the center section. The guests will stand as the class of 1979 files in and out at the beginning and end of the ceremony. Although this is not a mandatory ceremony, baccalaureate is the beginning of the seniors' step towards graduation and its popularity throughout the years has increased until last year almost the entire auditorium was filled with expectant students and parents as they watched the approach of a new stage in life.

SENIOR TEACHERS OF '79

SENIOR TEACHERS

Mrs. Deanna Baird owes much of her expertise in her subject, German to the time she spent studying at Johannes Gutenberg University in Mainz, West Germany, and the fact that her favorite activity is traveling to Germany. She finds her seniors "intelligent...very socially oriented," but laments that they "rarely did more than what they had to do in class."

Football games, the musical and band concerts are some of the many places we appreciate Band Director Mr. James Bennett. "a love for music and bands" inspired him to pursue a teaching degree at W.V.U. Mr. Bennett has taught at U.S.C. for 9 years.

Pittsburgh native Mr. Bruce Carney is a Clarion State and Clarkson College of Technology graduate who has taught at U.S.C. for 11 years. Comparing the class of '79 to that of '68, he says that we "have a better understanding of the direction (we) are going, but have less of a commitment to it." Mr. Carney has found his seniors "generally very pleasurable."

Senior class advisor and English and Speech teacher Mr. John D. D'Alessandro has been teaching at U.S.C. for 10 years, but he's actually been here a bit longer than that since this is his alma mater. He is also a graduate of Taylor University and Indiana University of PA from which he has a Masters Degree in Counseling. In his spare time, he works to "pay the bills teaching doesn't."

Math Department Chairman, Mr. John K. DeBlassio, a native of Hendersonville, PA., is truly a veteran of the academic world having attended Pitt, Indiana University of PA., Miami U., and the University of Oklahoma.

He describes the class of '79 as "friendly and capable of making good contributions to society." However, over his 14 years at U.S.C., he has found that because of more outside interests and part-time jobs, students are now spending less "time and effort at their school work."

Tennis and dancing enthusiast Mrs. Joyce Enscoe is a graduate of Slippery Rock and Penn State who has taught for 15 years. Compared to members of her first senior class, she finds that today's seniors in her Health and Phys. Ed. classes are "much more mature...handle discussion groups much better."

As anyone who has seen the Spring Choral Concert knows, Choral Director Mr. Robert J. Gielas is presently concluding his 10th year at U.S.C. A graduate of Duquesne, Pitt, Phoenix College and Arizona State, he cites his high school teachers and his parents as his main inspirations for becoming a teacher. Mr. Gielas describes the class of '79 as "reliable, courteous and hard working."

"Finding a hidden joy that others overlooked" indicates the philosophy that sets Mrs. Mary Gurtner apart in the minds of her Shorthand, Typing

To be a class valedictorian at Upper St. Clair High School, a student must receive a 4.0 Year-To-Date Quality-Point-Average. The students that have met this qualification for the 1978-1979 school year are Cheryl Bruno, Debbie Clark, Terry McGuire, Keith Pernicano and Eric Reichenbach. They all feel that they have worked hard to achieve this status and they all believe that the effort has been worth it. Eric and Cheryl agreed that they had never given the thought of being a and Related Arts-Business students. After her first year at U.S.C. she describes her students in 2 words: "They sparkle!"

A "desire to work with young people" lured Mrs. Susan N. Hughes into becoming a psychology teacher at U.S.C., a position she has held for the past 10 years. She describes our seniors as "social and not as serious about academics on the whole" as previous classes. Mrs. Hughes wishes the senior class "success and happiness in its future endeavors."

Without the musical ability of French teacher Mr. George McClintock, U.S.C.'s famed musical productions would lose out greatly. He has become very special both to his French students and to the many U.S.C. students who have had the opportunity to see Europe through his work with AIFS. After 18 years as a teacher, Mr. McClintock feels that students have changed, in that they are now "less excited about learning."

In her second year at U.S.C., English teacher Ms. Shane McConnell finds her students "bright, responsible, and friendly." A graduate of Wagner College, Duquesne and Pitt, she enjoys sports officiating, basketball, newspaper work and reading.

valedictorian much consideration until these last few semesters when they began to work much harder to achieve a 4.0 on their report cards. Up until that time, they had always just done their best. These students have managed to maintain an A average and still participate in activities such as student council, colorguard, and football. As a class, we should admire these individuals. Their achievements should serve as examples for all of us, illustrating the rewards of hard work and dedication.

"Enthusiastic and competitive" is how Mr. William McMaster, a 12th year phys. ed. teacher, describes the class of '79. He has also found the development of the senior elective program very interesting. Mr. McMaster is a graduate of Slippery Rock and Springfield.

Slippery Rock and Pitt grad Mr. Thomas Murphy is concluding his first year at the high school, although he has taught Phys. Ed. in this district for 11 years. A native of the North Hills, he enjoys racketball and volleyball outside of school.

Crafts teacher and Erie native Mr. Paul Pavlov has been teaching for 21 years, 18 at U.S.C. Of his professions, he says "it is nice to observe that nothing remains the same from year to year." Mr. Pavlov is a graduate of Edinboro State College and Penn State.

Phys. Ed. teacher Mr. Alex Perinis enjoys his job for the opportunities it gives him to "work with young people on an informal basis." A Pittsburgh native, he feels that compared to their predecessors, today's graduating class is "not as responsible," has "less pride and genuine enthusiasm," and lacks "positive leadership." Mr. Perinis has taught at U.S.C. for 17 years.

Sr. Teachers - con't.

"The opportunity of sitting in classes of some of the finest persons I have ever met" provided the incentive for Foreign Language Curriculum Leader Miss Rosemarie Rocher to pursue her career. Miss Rocher, who enjoys "sports, poetry, sketching and thinking about Paul Newman," describes the senior class as "doers rather than dreamers...impatient, but determined."

English teacher, Mrs. Margaret M. Sagan feels that today's seniors are often more mature than those she first worked with in 1960 "because they have more freedom." A native of Boston, she studied at Boston Teacher's College, Boston University and C.M.U.

"Muppet Show" enthusiast Mr. James Saunders has taught mathematics at U.S.C. for 15 years. Of his students, he says that he has "detected a real concern to push aside some of the 'mumbo jumbo' usually associated with education, and... on occasion, getting close to discovering why learning can be an exciting and life-long adventure."

"Less inquisitive" describes the class of '79 as Psychology and Geography teacher Mr. Schlacter sees it. A graduate of both Michigan State and Duquesne, he especially enjoys golf, hockey, raquetball and traveling choice of profession. A graduate of Waynesburg College, U.S. International U. in San Diego, and Glassboro State College in New Jersey, he believes that the class of '79 is "More concerned about every day problems and challenges."

American History teacher Mr. Stacy Stockton regards his own high school history teacher as the main influence upon his

by Leah Fraser

There are seven complete sets of twins in the Senior Class. Four sets are male identical twins: Keith and Kevin Joseph, Brad and Brian McCurrie, Todd and Tom Seach, and Joe and John Znoy; there is one set of female identical twins: Leah and Lydia Fraser; and there are two sets of fraternal twins, one male and female set: Jon and Jane Marks; and two females in the other set: Bubby and Nancy Tomich.

When asked if they are compared a lot, Keith and Kevin Joseph both agreed that they are constantly compared competitively. Kevin said that there are more disadvantages to being a twin than there are advantages but "the advantages are worthwhile." Keith stated that one advantage is that as a twin, "you get to meet more people..." because people get to know you. (Twins are a novelty, they are out-of-the-ordinary, and thus people have a tendency to notice them.) Both Keith and Kevin are interested in sports and girls, not necessarily in that order! Kevin played football and basketball this year while Keith also played football but is now playing baseball. Keith said that he and his brother have different tastes in food, music, hobbies, etc. Both are not sure where they will be going to college but Kevin will major in Engineering or Advertising and Business, and Keith may also go into Engineering or Computer Science. Interesting enough, they've been in one class, together in their whole 12 years of schooling.

Brad and Brian McCurrie also agreed that they are compared competitively. While Brad stated that it is good to have someone around, Brian brought up the fact that this could also be a disadvantage. They have the same friends and both were co-captains of the Soccer team. Brian is presently playing baseball. They have different tastes in girls: Brad likes blondes and Brian likes brunettes. Throughout their 12 years of school, they've had a lot of classes together but it was not meant to be. They just took the same courses and were scheduled together. Brian is going to attend Notre Dame in the fall, majoring in Business, while Brad may attend Notre Dame or Brown University to study Pre-Med. When asked what their parents feel about both going to the same school, they replied that they will not be living in the same dorm, and that the campus of Notre Dame is big enough that they probably would not be bumping into each other often. Their older brother Dan already goes there to school. Besides, "It is easier to make one trip!"

Also compared a lot are Todd and Tom Seach. Both agreed that a major disadvantage is sharing things. Tom does not like how people mix him and his brother. Todd stated that when people do not know which is which, this could be an advantage because one could blame something on the other. Both were on the Cross Country team. Todd is on the Track team and on A.V. Tom is in Choir and is interested in cars. Todd is planning to go to Virginia Tech for Engineering while Tom goes to the University of Dayton to study Mechanical Engineering.

The last of the male identical twins are Joe and John Znoy. John stated that an advantage is putting the blame on one another, but he also categorized this as a disadvantage. Also a disadvantage are the comparisons placed between the two. Joe said that one disadvantage to being a twin is that many mistake one for the other. Yet because of the mix up, one can get the other to replace him on a job or for a test, etc! Both are interested in skiing and other sports. And both are known to have a "Casanova" image! Joe will study Hotel and Restaurant Management and John may attend West Virginia University for Medicine.

Jon and Jane Marks are brother and sister, yet, jokingly, Jane said that their "cleaning lady confuses their underwear."

Jon said that he and Jane have no problem being compared. They are compared to their older isblings more than to each other. Both Jon and Jane are interested in music, the Beatles being Jon's favorite group and "euphoric compounds." Jon intends to study Medicine or Accounting or Business while Jane may also pursue a career in the Business World.

Bubby and Nancy Tomich do not appear to be twins at all. They have different colored hair and different body frames, etc. Naturally, they are not compared. Both agreed that there are advantages to being twins, one being having someone around. They do not think there are any disadvantages. While Nancy is very much involved in sports; golfing, racquetball and skiing, Bubby likes the ocean, fashions (designer clothes) and jewelry. Nancy is going to attend the University of Arizona on a golf scholarship to study Business. Bubby plans to become a stewardess because she likes to travel and she will attend Mercyhurst College in the fall.

Of course, some sets of twins do not enjoy being twins at all and these twins do not get along well with each other. There is sibling rivalry and fighting between the two just as there is in all family situations. Yet, the majority on the whole of the twins mentioned in this article like being twins. Joe Znoy stated that being a twin is "great" and that he and John do fight occasionally but that they have a good relationship. Nancy and Bubby both said they liked being twins and Nancy also mentioned that "she does not know what it is like not being a twin." As for Jon and Jane, Jane likes being atwin and Jon stated that it is no different from having an older sister.

I, myself, am a twin. I like being Lydia Fraser's sister, because we have a good relationship. As Lydia stated, we have a "unique type of relationship where there is more love than in a regular sister relationship." Of course it depends on the sisters. Lydia and I agree that there are not many advantages to being a twin. The answer most given for an advantage is that of having someone around, and as Lydia stated, "someone you can count on and who knows you better than anyone else." Another advantage is that being a twin, one gets more attention in that others notice you, but this is also a disadvantage in that after you have been noticed, you are always compared with your twin. Even though comparisons between twins are usually not favorable, Lydia feels that this has made her more competitive in things she does; not just competing with me but competition between her and others. I, myself, do not like to "compete" so to speak. I usually lose! One difference between Lydia and I is that she is much more determined in her studies and she works harder than I. Yet we have the same interests and generally the same friends. Both Lydia and I are officers of the Choral Department. Lydia is a Layout Editor of the ST. CLAIRION and I am an Assistant Features Editor. As for future plans, I will be attending Penn State in the fall and will major in Biological Sciences. Lydia wants to study Chemical Engineering at either Penn State or Notre Dame.

With my 18 years experience of being a twin, I can conclude that only friends and those who know you well know the differences between twins, both external and internal differences of each being. Contrary to popular belief, twins are not alike, other than their family resemblance! Lydia and I do have similar tastes in clothes, music, etc, but this does not make us the same or one person or copies of one another. I take pride in that I differ from Lydia in some respects in that I know that I am an individual. Most twins do not have their own identities; only friends know that they are two separate persons and not a "pair". In conclusion, twins are different and are individuals. However, it is the general public that sees twins as clones!

This year, the high school faculty was asked to nominate seniors who they felt exhibited several admirable traits. Since the faculty teaches a range of subjects, each teacher often recognized different students as "most scholarly." Also, teachers have different definitions of consideration, dependability, etc. In any event, it seems appropriate to recognize those seniors who positively interact with teachers and other students.

What to wear to one of the big events
of your life.

Consider the new Chelsea by Palm Beach Formals—a short cutaway model that is the epitome of elegance. Every detail is tastefully and fashionably right—from the satin shawl collar and suppressed waist, to the matching vest and satin "beau" tie. (There's even a ring pocket!) And the rental cost for all this elegance is most reasonable.

Palm Beach Formals

A contemporary
elegance

Last word, first choice of the groom who sees things in the light of today. The PRINCETON, a tuxedo of contemporary fashion... accessorized as shown, or with blue shirt and white tie. A tribute to the taste of all the members of the wedding party. At moderate rental costs, to boot!
